

Hannah Arrowood

Hannah Arrowood is the founder and Executive Director of Present Age Ministries, a nonprofit committed to combating the sexual abuse, exploitation, and trafficking of girls. She combines 10 years of experience in corporate America with eleven years of nonprofit leadership.

Hannah utilizes her experience to spear-head program development across the United States as well as in international countries such as South Africa, Kenya, and Nicaragua. She has a passion for equipping leaders through discipleship and mentoring.

Hannah has incorporated elements of the Discipleship Group material to the internal development of team members at Present Age, as well as in her work with local churches, and one-on-one discipleship. The call to make disciples, to teach them, and to model authentic faith is something that Hannah pursues in every facet of life. Hannah is married to Jeff and they have two young-adult daughters.
